STOP ACCIDENTS IN

THE HOME

The home, which should be the safest and happiest place in the world produces more accidents than does industry and is second only to traffic. Medical and hospital bills for the care of home-accident victims amount yearly to hundreds of individuals are permanently disabled and scores of new hundreds of individuals are permanently disabled and scores of new graves are filled each year by persons accidentally killed at home.

The farm home as well as the city home contributes to this horrible annual toll. Observance of a few preventive regulations and the diligent exercise of intelligent watchfulness can reduce the hazards very greatly. By studying the causes of accidents and by correcting the conditions which cause them, time, energy, sorrow and suffering can be saved and all the family given added assurance of greater enjoyment.

o'clock instead of from 9.30 to noon, as formerly. The change becomes effective this Saturday.

Briefly, the idea behind the change is to give the bank's staff a better break on their week-end time. The old idea that bankers worked from only 10 to 3—to the envy of most people—has long been exploded. This was never true, for much remains for the banker to do after his doors are closed.

With the great burden of work on banking personnel, which developed during the war and which has carried into the peace, it has been necessary for bank staffs to work much overstume for a number of years. It is frequently the case on Saturdays, with the traditional public closing at noon, for the staff to be obliged to work on until anywhere from 1 to 3 p.m. which, to say the least, goes hard on plans for a Saturday afternoon outling or a week-end's fishing.

Customers as a whole will be glad to see this relief for the people serving them at the bank who will thus be helped to a little more leisure time.

In considering costs of production of eggs it is usual to estimate the cost of feed as $2 to $3 per 100 pounds. But what do eggs cost per dozen to produce is the information a producer really wants, says B. F. Cheney, Poultyman, Dominion Experimental Station, Kentfille, N.S.

In regard to feed costs per dozen eggs, records compiled during the past five years at Kentville, show that during the five-year period the feed cost per dozen eggs ranged from 10.5 to 35 cents. This variation in cost is due almost entirely to fluctuations in rate of production so that when production falls below 50 per cent, feed costs per dozen eggs is over 18 cents and when production is up to 70 per cent feed cost per dozen eggs is over 18 cents and when production. Fifty per cent is no longer a satisfactory rate of lay. Flocks

Widespread publicity has been given to a report in Ottawa that the Canadian Government's financial operations from April to July this year has resulted in a huge surplus of $388,305.799, with expenditures for this period having amounted to $589,029,690 and revenues $377,335,489. This compares with $350,000,000 surplus in the fiscal year 1945-46 which resulted in a sharp reduction of taxes so that his latest report is bound to arouse considerable enthusiasm and expectations of much greater tax relief in the near future. However, and this is extremely important, observers backstage in Ottawa where we about under conditions which warrant an explanation. First, it must be reported Canada's new lower tax rates have only come into effect in July and this latest surplus included the benefits of the higher tax receipts. Second, the Canadian loans to various sources was recorded at almost half of last year during this latest period and last year during this lat

While there is much sympathy with the civil servants in Ottawa where the heat is excessive during the summer and they must work under these conditions, yet the quite common practice of government offices closing rather suddenly and without notice on this ground after working only a half day to 12 or 1 o'clock is beginning to annoy many people who have to transfact business with these offices. After all, it is argued, private enterprise employees cannot be suffering more from the same heat than the government workers who number about 30,000 here, but these continue to carry on the work whereas government employees leave work at about noon, most of them being seen later either in shows or engaged in shopping in downtown Ottawa.

It is no secret any longer that some or rather so-called used cars since new cars are driven around the block and sold as such at fantastic prices by some people. Now, an official report here has shown that factory shipments of made-in-Canada motor vehicles in the first five months of 1947 have involved 45,419 passenger cars for sale in Canada and 18,903 for export, totalling 64,322 cars. Likewise, in this same period 25,439 commercial vehicles, including trucks, were involved in such shipments for sale in Canada and 15,090 for export, with the total number of such trucks being 40,448. In addition, 12,988 passenger cars and 3,728 trucks were recorded as ship

INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS

INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS

It is learned in Ottawa that the authorities would investigate the complaints in a petition reportedly signed by 700 convicts in a Canadian penitentiary against the inadequate food served to the prisoners, with this arising out of the escape of three long-term prisoners from a penitentiary, one of whom it is said had mailed this petition. However, it may be added that it is known here that inadequate food complaints are quite the common excuse when there is a prison break or disturbance.

BABY'S BOTTLES

It is quite true that the arrival of the delegation some weeks ago was accompanied by a loud proclamation and much publicity, with this being followed suddenly by almost total blackout on news. Nevertheless, it must be explained that this was only a fact-finding delegation and nothing else, though this was not, perhaps, emphasized suffinciently. Then again, it must be explained that the whole thing involved far more delicate diplomatic discussions than appeared on the surface to the maninche street across Canada. Finally, the discussions have been "in camera" in regard to the terms of such a union. Naturally, veteran observers empha-

Naturally, veteran observers emphasize, such activities in Ottawa always produce an air of mystery, though in reality there may be no real cause for it, and the discussions have taken place in proper unpublicized ways as required in such delicate diplomatic affairs.

THE QUESTION BOX
Mrs. D. C. asks: Why do my canned pears fall to pieces?

Answer: Because they have been over-processed or they were over-ripe. Mrs. D. M. asks: What causes cloudiness in canned peas? How can it be prevented?

Answer: This may be caused by insufficient precooking, by some mineral in the water that is used, by using peas that are too old for canning, or by peas bursting during processing. Proper pre-cooking, use of clear soft water and careful handling prevents cloudiness.

Mrs. J. D. asks: In oven canning is it necessary to allow the oven to get

The peppermint growing industry was started previous to the last warwhen 50 to 60 acres was grown by those who could see "something in it". There are now about 300 acres devoted to peppermint crops in Ontario. The average production of green pepermint is from one to two tons peracre. Last spring peppermint growers increased, and in answer to questions about values growers say "it is a fluctuating business, but it is better than growing celery."

The crop is propagated by means of root stalks or stolins. The crop must be kept free of weeds. It is, then gathered and taken to the still and the oil distilled out of the plant.

Ratepayer Writes To Editor Regarding Cutting of Weeds

Can you or anyone tell me what a weed inspector is for? If it is to see that the weeds are growing well, they certainly are. I'm sure no other village can produce such an abundant crop, which is not only a disgrace but a menace to gardens and lawns, not saying anything about the suffering of hay fever patients.

I know some people are not able to hay fever patients.

I know some people are not able to cut them, and some can't get anyone, so if the council would appoint a man with a team and mower and go and cut the weeds in every garden before they went to seed, keep an account of the time, and put it on their tax bill, most people would be glad to know it would be done. This would make a great improvement in the looks of the village as well as helping the ones village as well as helping the ones that try to keep their gardens free of weeds.

Last Sunday it told on the radio that there were visitors here from the States, Quebec and several other places, so I'm wondering what their impressions would be. Hoping there will be some immediate action.

EARLY CHICKS NOW

Poultry raisers were urged early this year by Poultry Cervices, Dominion Department of Agriculture to buy or hatch chicks a month to two months earlier than usually so as to make eggs available in the fall and winter for export to Great Britain. They are now benefiting by the payoff. Two cars of new crop eggs were offered to the Special Products Board on August 22, for shipment to Great Britain against the British egg contract. This was a full month earlier than in 1946, and the 1947 early hatched pullets should enable producers to continue egg deliveries throughout the fall and winter, when Britain wants them most and pays a premium for 5,000 stepped on it.

WHITE ROCK TRAIL

CHAPTER VII

SYNOPSIS—Will MacLeod and his sister Marion had fled their uncle's trading post at Bison Crossing when sent by Alexander MacLeod to White Rock to deliver a message to Nipegosis, who still practised withcraft. Marion and Bill were hiding in a cottage near Nipegosis'. Before Dick reached White Rock he was shot by a half-breed Kinoceti, who wanted to get the award for Bill's capture. Marion made a daily visit to Nipegosis, taking him broth and other food. On a visit to Nipegosis Marion learned that some friend was dying on the trail. Bill and Mariôn set out to find him. They arrived and found Dick with blood all over him and practically frozen to death, lying by the dying fire. They made plans to rush him back to White Rock. After taking him to their cottage they read the note and found that the Mounties were on their trail. Bill left to hide in a cave and soon afterwards the Mounty arrived.

"Good morning to you, Sergeant O, am looking for your brother."

There was no question but what the man was ill. He lay as if in a stupor and his pulse was low. The clothes were raised off ene leg by a sort of cage. O'Rourke, with set lips, lifted the bedclothes, saw the bandaged limb, another bandage on the head.

It began very much to look as if she had lied, and lied deliberately. He set to work to prove it.

There wars a sort of closet, curtained by sacking. The garments in it were feminine. He did not give them a second glance. He was still a little puzzled as to why the girl should have given up her own room with another vacant—if it was vacant. There was morning sun in this one, when the sun shone.

Constable McQuaid reported Martin as telling him that he had tried to collect the insurance on his farm home but that it had bothered him so he did not then want it.

The constable testified that one of the reasons why he had not wanted to hear Martin's story was that he considered Martin a mental case.
Despite objection by the defense, Constable McQuaid's evidence was ruled admissible by Mr. Justice Wilson. Martin's story had been told voluntarily with no prompting it was ruled.

President and Directors Deserve Praise — Rain And Cool Weather Affect Crowd Blind Needs

Cool Weather Affect Crowd
Despite intermittent showers and a decided drop in temperature, which undoubtedly kept many from attending, Stirling Fair, held on Thursday best in years, from the standpoint of exhibits and entertainment. President Ewart Balley; and the Board of Directors had left nothing undone in an effort to improve the Fair and judging from the many fine compilments heard they were suscessful in their effort.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

In its survey of the production of dairy products, the recent issue of the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada says that, while total milk production in May and June was slightly less in 1947 than in 1946, the 1947 production in July was approximately the same as in 1946.

Creamery butter production continues to show some increase but increased consumer demand has kept stocks at a level just slightly higher than a year ago. Cheese production continues to decline. Production for the first seven months of 1947 totalled 68 million pounds, or about 16 million pounds as than in 1946.

184,811 boxes by August 8, 1947, as compared with 552,210 boxes by the coresponding date of 1946.

WORKERS WANTED

With employment in this country being at its highest point in many years and a strong demand for certain types of workers being unsatisfied, it is believed that a determined drive will be started before long to bring much more immigrants to this country, especially from displaced persons camps in Europe where there are some very desirable prospects for Canada's labor ranks, Indeed, it would not be surprising to veteran observers here if the Government accelerated such a movement of persons to this country within the next several weeks using both air and sea transportation for such purposes, with the expectation being that several thous-

But the buyer wno pays the premium for registered seed will obtain many-fold returns. For instance, 50 cents per bushel extra for good seed means an added expenditure of $1.00 per acre for fall wheat, but the resulting crop should yield value many times the original cost. In the meantime, the grower has satisfaction in knowing he has used the best. With labour scarce on farms, it will pay individual farmers to buy a few bags of clean seed from a desirable source A farmer cannot afford to use anything but high grade seed, particularly this year, when urgent demands prevail for fall wheat, either from acash crop or a feeding standpoint.

Farmers who are unable to secure supplies of fall wheat seed from registered seed growers in their own localities may secure lists of seed available from their agricultural representatives, or direct from the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The growers are paying good wages for workers from these camps, where living conditions are of the best and workers have a happy and congennial atmosphere in which to work. A special plea is made to the Junior Farmers of the Province who have completed their own harvest operations to come forward and assist the fruit and vegetable growers in taking care of their harvests.

There is also an urgent need for about 200 day to day workers in the Toronto area. These workers are picked up to the city limits each morning and returned there every night, and receive good wages for the hours of labour in the vegetable fields and fruit orchards. City folks who can spend a day o two, or every day, in day work of this nature, will be very useful in saving these vital crops.

All young people, whether for Farm Service camps, or for day labour in the Toronto area, are urged to register at once with the Ontario Farm Service Force, 9 Richmond Street East, or to telephone to Adelaide 9461, as I,ve heard folks say a farmer's trials Are not so very many. Of troubles real and worry too, He hasn't hardly any.

He walks the hills much like a King, A monarch's right has he; The pride of ownership is his, Of valley, hill and tree.

The cows on pasture gather milk, The bees fly in with honey; The pigs just eat to make them fat, The hens just cackle money.

Its all a money making scheme,
But this I do not know;
How farmer's thought this racket
out,

And cornered all the dough.

Now into your home we ask you to ake these gifts as a tangible token of our esteem. May they prove useful to you and at the same time remind you of your friends right at home. Our nest wishes and kind thoughts will follow you and we trust that your life may be prosperous, full of hope and loy and may God's richest blessings rest on you and your home.

However, it is reported here that, while some few hundred members of their staff would gradually be released of their duties, yet the reduction in staff would not be as great as two large more and the canadian Parliament would probably open at the end of January or early in February. However, well-informed circles in this capital are now talking about the possibility that the members may be called back earlier if any critical situation should arise, especially on the economic front or the dollar shortage crisis, to warant such an earlier meeting. It is by no means a certainty that the same time observers here can hear considerable talk suggesting that the session might start earlier removed from control.

Ever since the Canadian Government's Civil Service Commission started to ask each employee to take an oath of loyalty and secrecy, the impression has been given throughout Canada that the freedom of these public servants has been restricted by these processes. However, inquiries in Ottawa have shown that the administration of such an oath to civil servants cross the country was not intended to limit their freedom as individuals. The only limitation was that this oath was intended to impress them with the fact that they are working for the state and that confidential information reaching them must be kept secret as provided by regulations. Their own political views or other opinions are not affected and conversations with many of the civil servants in this capital indicate that, in face of the stories about their supposed restrictions, the civil servants themselves feel quite free to express themselves as ordinary citizens of Canada, to secrecy only in their work for the state. That is all there is to these governmental restrictions, it is emphasized.

SUCCESS STORY

Typical of the zuccessful placement of blind workers in industry is the story of Bill Watson. That isn't his real name, but he is a real person. At the age of 22, Watson, who had been doing farm and factory work, lost his sight. Idleness followed until his mother got in touch with the local C.N.I.B. field secretary. Watson was an independent type of lad and very eager to learn the ways of the slightless and to earn his own living. He was brought to Toronto. A C.N.I.T. home teacher, an experienced blind woman, began to teach him Braille and handicrafts. After two months her report was that he learned Braille faster than any of her other pupils. He immediately took advantage of the Braille Library service.

Next came the question of employment. He had a talk with the head of the Employment and Placement Department and it was decided to give him a training. he C.N.I.B. operates a number of concession stands in large office buildings where cigarettes, tob-

Mrs. Davidson, secretary for Christian Stewardship, presented the following resolutions compiled at the branch meeting in Port Hope: Whereas the memorials and resolutions sent to the Conference Branch from the Presbyterials are not always adequately worded, we recommend: (1) That ely worded, we recommend: (1) That the Presbyterial memorials and resol utions committee be appointed at the Executive Presbyterial meeting.
